IEEE Wuhan Section

Huaibei Zhou
Chair, IEEE Wuhan Section
Dean and Professor, Wuhan University
Outline

- Achievements
- Challenge
- Suggestions
IEEE Wuhan Section

- Founded on February 14, 2007
Members

- June 2007: 161
- June 2009: 240
- January 2011: 371

50% annual growth!
Information about Wuhan

- Populations: 10 millions
- College Students: 1 million
- Location: middle part of China
What We Did in 2010

Organized Conferences

- Int’l Conf. on Internet Technology and Applications, Aug. 21 2010, Attendance: 189 (27 IEEE members)

- Int’l Conf. on Management and Service Science, Aug. 24 2010, Attendance: 591 (37 IEEE members)

- Int’l Conference on Computational Intelligence and Software Engineering, Dec. 10 2010, Attendance: 415 (41 IEEE members)
Major Activities held in 2010
Major Activities held in 2010
Major Activities held in 2010 (continued)
Major Activities in 2011

- International Conference on Bioinformatics and Biomedical Engineering, May 10, 2011, Wuhan

- International Conference on Management and Service Science, Aug.12, 2011, Wuhan
Major Activities planned for 2011

- Int’l Conf. on Internet Technology and Applications, Aug 16, 2011, Wuhan

- Int’l Conf. on Wireless Communications, Networking and Mobile Computing, Sept. 23, 2011, Shanghai

- Int’l Conf. on Computational Intelligence and Software Engineering, Dec. 9, 2011, Shanghai
What Does it Mean to IEEE

- Promote IEEE brand name
- Attract many potential scholars to join IEEE
- Others
Challenge

- Legal status of IEEE Sections
- Accounts for regular activities
- Relationship among IEEE HQ, Regions, Sections and Chapters
Suggestions

- Build better relationships with central government in China
- Streamline the management of chapters, sections, etc.
- Better Communications
Wuhan and its Potential for IEEE

- Wuhan is becoming the engine for China’s next step of development
- Geographically the center of China
- Top 3 in terms of Universities
- Hunan, Jianxi, Henan provinces are not covered by IEEE
Thanks